Voters want you to put nature, parks, farmland and countryside first.

Will you…

- ✓ protect nature, parks, farmland and countryside?
- ✓ fight for the Homes for Everyone "greenfield last" approach: brownfield, empty homes, commercial and public buildings to create over 2 million homes?
- ✓ reject the presumption in favour of green space destruction in new policy S5J[1] in the NPPF, and the presumption in favour of development around rural stations?
- ✓ reject the construction of any new towns on greenfield sites?
- ✓ ensure planning permissions are built out before permitting new greenfield developments?
- ✓ reject sky-high rural housing targets that see our green and pleasant land destroyed, and end target-based planning which undermines local plan-making?
- ✓ reverse 'grey belt' rules that see Green Belt countryside and farmland concreted over?
- ✓ ban solar on farmland and insist that it is on rooftops, car parks and brownfield?
- ✓ reject the Fingleton Recommendations, in particular the reversal of the Finch judgement, the raising of Aarhus caps, the reversal of National Park protections and the suggestion that developers can pay to destroy habitats?
- ✓ support the retention and expansion of Biodiversity Net Gain and support farmers financillay to farm with nature?
- ✓ listen to communities affected by the grid upgrade and take a "pylons last" approach?
- ✓ apply the Treasury Green Book to decision-making and fully compensate financially for harm?
- ✓ lobby for a fixed developer levy (like Community Infrastructure Levy) to ensure timely delivery of infrastructure and affordable housing?
- ✓ reject dominant buildings such as warehouses, data centres and converter stations within 500m of residential property and only allow 24x7 operations at least 500m from homes?
- ✓ fund 100,000 social houses a year and end the right to buy?
- ✓ protect, fund and staff public parks and greenspace?
- ✓ prioritise sustainable transport for passengers and freight over new roads?
- ✓ provide genuine protection for irreplaceable habitats?
- ✓ put communities in the driving seat, allowing them to make planning decisions, moving to Engage, Deliberate, Decide instead of Decide, Announce, Defend?

80+ groups all over the country will be joining in a day of action for nature, parks and green spaces on 18th April to call for just these things.

It's INSANE, IRRESPONSIBLE and UNNECESSARY to target green spaces
